

KANSAS CITY-ST. LOUIS
PIKEGovernor Folk Wants a Highway across Missouri.

Jefferson City, June 21.—Governor Folk and the state board of agriculture will meet in St. Louis and select a state highway engineer July 6. Governor Folk hopes to have a public highway from St. Louis to Kansas City commenced as soon as the state highway engineer can get to work. The governor is much pleased with the road laws enacted at the last regular session of the legislature. He considers them the only effective road laws the state has ever had, and believes that if they are continued in operation as they should be there will be splendid highways from one end of the state to the other.

In addition to other measures the last legislature appropriated $460,000 to be divided among the 114 counties of the state immediately. This will give something more than $4,000 to each county. This money is available for the counties now and can be drawn by requisition upon the state treasurer. Besides that amount there was appropriated 1/4 million dollars to be apportioned to the different counties according to the assessed valuation, no county to receive more than 5 per cent of the amount.

The stamp tax act will, it is estimated, provide an additional revenue for road purposes of approximately 2 million dollars annually. The act is now being tested in the courts.

As soon as the state highway engineer is selected he will plan the proposed Kansas City-St. Louis highway which, it is believed, will run through the counties of St. Louis, St. Charles, Warren, Boone, Callaway, Cooper, Pettis, Lafayette and Jackson. Meetings will be held along the proposed line of road to get the cooperation of the various counties.

The legislature also passed a law, which will become effective January 1, 1908, authorizing each county in the state to select a county highway engineer to cooperate with the state engineer.

Missouri's Honey Production
Exceeded only by Three Other States.

The importance of the honey crop of Missouri is much larger than many people know of. According to the last United States census only three states, namely: Texas, California and New York, exceed Missouri in the total of honey products. Missouri has something like three-fourths of a million of dollars. Within the last few years a very fatal contagious disease has appeared in some places in the state, known as foul brood. For the protection of the bee owners, the last legislature enacted a law for the appointment of a state Bee Inspector, to be under the control of the State Board of Agriculture. M. E. Darby of Springfield, Mo., has been appointed under that law and his services may now be secured by making application to him, giving evidence that the bees are infected with foul brood or any other contagious disease. Mr. Darby is a successful apiarist and thoroughly familiar with treating bees for foul brood and will promptly answer all calls made on him for that purpose. As he is in the employ of the state, the Board of Agriculture provides for his expenses and the bee keepers will not be called upon for any part of the expense.

The Right Sort of Boy

There is the story of a boy in college who was about to graduate, says an exchange. He wrote back to the farm for his mother to come. She replied that she could not do so. She said her clothes were worn out and she had no money to buy new ones for the occasion. The boy said come anyhow. The poor mother went in her best, but was not stylish. The commencement was in a fashionable church. The son was prouder of his mother than his honors. He walked down the aisle with her to the center of the church and took her to one of the best seats.

There were tears in her eyes and she burst out weeping when her son pronounced the valedictory. The president pinned a badge on his coat, but he took it and pinned it on his mother's faded dress as he bent and kissed her wrinkled face.

The boy with this kind of pride will be an honor to his country and his God. May his number increase and the shadow of his loveliness cover the world.—Ex.

Dutton-Hicks

The writer attended a beautiful wedding at the home of Richard Hicks, near Cretcher when Miss Nora Hicks and Willie Dutton were united in marriage on Sunday evening, June 24, 1907, at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Dutton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hicks, and Mr. Dutton the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dutton. The bride was beautifully dressed in white and the groom wore the conventional black. The attendants were Miss Edna Akeman and Walter Cox. They were married in the yard by Rev. S. H. Carter and in the presence of many relatives and friends. They are two of our best young people, loved and respected by all. We wish them a long and happy life, with all kinds of good luck. W.
